GREENWOOD—ROWE HILL

Mrs. Mabel Dunham is some better.

Mrs. Nettie M. Bryant, Center, was with her a part of last week and Mrs. Elsie Cole is with her this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Dunham and Clyde Dunham, all of Locke's Mills, were at Elton Dunham's, Sunday.

Ernest Brooks has returned to Gorham, N. H.

Mont and Carl Brooks attended the Junior play at Bryant Pond in which Carl had a part last Saturday evening.

So much snow fell, Sunday that it was necessary to break roads.

Winifred Bryant returned to Bryant Pond, Sunday, and will go to school one-half day each day, so to take her examinations. Her health is not good, the effect of the grip cold.

Your correspondent would like to correct an error in last week's Advertiser in the article concerning the death of Miss Minnie. The article states she was one of nine children and that one half-sister survives in Abington, Mass. Evidently the writer did not know that Elizabeth died about ten years ago. I am not certain about the exact time. She died in New Canaan, Conn., where she had lived for several years.

Her husband, George N. Yeaton, died a short time before she did. There were eleven children in the family, nine own brothers and sisters and two half-sisters, Elizabeth and Florence, whom many old friends remember.

She was a maternity nurse for a number of years. She married George Yeaton of Cape Porpoise in 1914, died about two years later.

The niece and nephew living in Greenwood, Woodstock and West Paris are Mr. and Mrs. Bryant, Mrs. Sara Knights, G. W. Q. Perham and Mrs. Annie Davis.

Woodstock, R. L. Cummings, Uscopia, Pl. also Chris Bryant, Locke Mills and one or two nephews in Massachusetts. His wife, Mrs. Nellie Cullen, in a letter written Dec. 1, says he was a most patient and considerate patient, never complaining. He had made plan to come to Maine to the G. A. R. reunion last fall at Portland. He has not been brought to Greenwood for burial. There has been several different statements made relative to Mr. Bryant's death, but this is very nearly correct.

General Motors' Lowest-Priced Eight . .
the Car with Superior Performance

Today a new eight-cylinder motor car makes its appearance. It is the newest General Motors eight and by several hundreds of dollars the lowest in price. It is the New Oakland Eight with smart new bodies by Fisher.

Superior Performance

The New Oakland Eight develops 85 horsepower and is the first stock car of its size and weight to employ an engine of such high power. Since performance depends largely on the ratio between horsepower and weight, the New Oakland Eight is exceptionally fast and powerful because it produces one horsepower to 37 pounds of car weight.

Eight-Cylinder Smoothness

The New Oakland Eight has all the smoothness which results from the overlapping power impulses inherent in eight-cylinder engine design. In addition, it enjoys exclusive mechanical advantages which make it even smoother and more delightful to drive.

Sound Basic Design

Several of the engineers who participated in creating General Motors' first eight back in 1914 were responsible for the development of the New Oakland Eight. To this latest task they brought a wide knowledge of eight-cylinder design. It is reasonable to expect that the Oakland is a finer eight because of this fact.

Moderate Price

We believe the New Oakland Eight will appeal to you all the more forcibly when you consider its very moderate price. And a demonstration will reveal how well it merits the description "the car with superior performance."

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

A Famous Name—A Finer Car . . .
Introducing Important Improvements

The announcement of the first Pontiac in 1926, brought to the low-price field a new order of beauty, performance and reliability. And each Pontiac announcement since that time has introduced a car which represented an improvement even over its own highly regarded predecessors.

Important Improvements

Now comes the New Series Pontiac Big Six—an even finer car with a famous name. It retains all the qualities responsible for Pontiac's success in the past. And in addition it introduces many improvements.

New bodies by Fisher make this latest Pontiac Big Six more beautiful than ever.

Greater Smoothness and Safety

The smoothness of Pontiac's 60-horsepower engine is further increased by the use of improved type rubber engine mountings. Pontiac's large non-squeak four-wheel brakes have been made even more efficient. A new

VICTORY DAY'S HAPPY KEYNOTE

A Message from Mrs. Ella A. Boole, National W. C. T. U. President

"The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union sends hearty greetings to every community which is celebrating the tenth birthday of National Prohibition."

For more than fifty years the National W. C. T. U. worked for the prohibition of the liquor traffic. We cooperated in every method proposed for curtailing its influence and weakening its power. We carried on a campaign of education among the boys and girls through the Loyal Temperance Legions through the Sunday Schools, and through the public schools. We distributed literature, held public meetings, observed days of prayer, all to the end that the liquor traffic might be outlawed.

"When Prohibition came on January 16th, 1920, many believed that there was no further need for temperance work. Not so with the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Our work was made more difficult because of the apathy of others, but we continued to organize, to educate and to point out the benefits derived from the outlawing of the liquor traffic. We stood back of officials charged with the responsibility for law enforcement, we promoted law observance. It was necessary in the beginning of a new method of dealing with the liquor traffic to stress the law as a means of accomplishing that result."

"It is true the liquor traffic was outlawed, but the nature of the traffic in alcohol had not changed, and as it had, it refused to obey the restrictions of license laws, it refused to obey the prohibition law, even though it was imbedded in the Constitution."

"As we take account of stock at the beginning of the second decade of prohibition, we realize the importance not only of supporting the law and officials in the performance of their duty, but we realize the responsibility of every individual, young and old, accepting his share of responsibility by observing the law himself."

"The United States is a composite picture of its people. Let us ask ourselves a very pertinent question—'Am I contributing to the enforcement of the prohibition law by obeying it myself, by establishing law observance habits in my own home, and by promoting law observance in the community in which I live?' Only by accepting this responsibility are we contributing our full share to the benefit of a great and noble law."

"As the bells ring at twelve o'clock on January 16th, let them ring out our rejoicing that the liquor traffic has been outlawed for ten years, and ring in our faith in the future that the Eighteenth Amendment is in the Constitution and is here to stay."

Associate Justices, Charles P. Barnes, Houlton, Charles J. Dunn of Orono, William R. Pattangall of Augusta and mentioned as possible successors to Chief Justice L. E. Deary, resigned.

Mrs. Alfred J. Dyer recently returned from a trip to England and France, where she visited for some weeks. The following interesting notes were made:

Left Boston on October 6 with a most delightful voyage, landed in Liverpool, Oct. 15. The first thing I saw was England's Prigible 104 sailing overhead.

Stayed in England visiting London and several seaside. Then left for France, where she visited for some weeks. The following interesting notes were made:

Heard and Seen at Advertiser Office

Margaret Crocker has brought in some keys, which she found Saturday by the Army.

The Houlton Times has been "enlarged" to seven columns to the page. Bro. Fogg knows how!

Don S. Smith of Hartford, Conn., has changed the address of his paper to 1255 10th Ave. South, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Business here is flat, little of it in sight. People eat sparingly, wear old things; but they do go to the movies.

Geo. B. Turner of Woodford says: "I took the picture as being one that was being built at Hiram, Me." George, with others was in error.

Robert Smith found a watch bracelet in front of H. F. Andrews' stable, Tuesday and it is here to add to our collection of found articles.

Winford F. Brown of Hebron, Route 1, hobbled into the office Monday with a batch of interesting news from his wife's pen. He is on crutches as a result of putting an ax into his knee and dividing the knee pan. This accident occurred during his busiest time, with woodmen to look after and other duties necessary in getting the stuff out. Mr. Brown gets about on the "sticks" and just won't give up.

Fred L. Edwards of Bethel called Tuesday. He attended a director's meeting at the Norway National Bank and was on his way home from Portland, where he passed the week and day with Edwards, who is spending the winter in the city. Mr. Edwards had a long wait for the evening train, so dropped in on the society gathering at the Norway Club and called on some of his acquaintances in stores and offices.

Just a line from Roger Hutchins in California, written about the steamer, Yale, informs us he will spend a month in Los Angeles and vicinity. The message was transcribed on a pictorial menu with checkmarks opposite nine articles of diet that comprised his lunch. Only three of those dishes are familiar names, and we fear Roger is traveling far from home. He is now in the city of Los Angeles, where he is spending the winter in the city.

Mrs. Jason P. Little of Otisfield, Harv. Route 2, enjoys the puzzle page and is pleased with the first prize awarded to her recently. We quote from her card: "Please accept my thanks for the award of first prize in last week's Advertiser. It came nearly on my birthday, so feel it a birthday gift."

"Hope to try many more puzzle pages as they are very interesting."

Henry D. Nall, who is employed on Bridgeport Post at Bridgeport, Ct., writes us from Silver Mine Falls, Norwalk, Ct., and says:

"I am in the position so that I can talk now at least a half hour a day, and my audience, if bored or uninterested can shut me up at a turn of the knob! We have established a special lock-up for the purpose of WICC of Bridgeport and I broadcast news from our editorial room at 5:15 A. M. and 1:15 P. M. every day except Sunday."

The first of the new features of "Picture Bill" DeCoteau arrived Wednesday at the desk of the Sports Editor. Said features are displayed in a newspaper group in the history of Sonerville, Mass. "Picture Bill" otherwise William E. DeCoteau, is manager of Broadway Theatre in that city and naturally interested in the project of one extra day's income for his large picture house. We take a shot that the versatile manager had a lot to do about getting the Sunday movie.

One interested in our success writes: "It is not a suitable time to do much of the year in which it was issued; that of nature should be completed not later than November 1st; but it appears to be the custom to be 'little mite behind' in many ways."

"I know of some who do haying in September that should have been done in July, leave tools and implements outdoors all winter, dig firewood out of the snow and ice, and build chimneys in January. I hope you do not do that way. I had had a notion you didn't."

"There is a time and place for everything. Fit into it!"

F. W. Sanborn: "I know nothing about Fish and Game Law, Regulations or Licenses. I got a hunting and fishing license and paid the price, $1.20. That is all I know about it."

Commissioner Stobie says: "It has been ruled by the Attorney General's office that the resident hunting license is annual, which means that it is not valid after Dec. 31 of the year in which it was issued; that the resident combination license, which is a combination of both fishing and hunting licenses, is annual, but that the resident fishing license, if taken out separately, is not annual. All non-resident licenses are annual."

"I also want plainly to state that this department does not any longer recognize the old 25 cent registration certificate."

The following clipped from a Cape Cod paper was handed to us for the readers' consideration. We can't vouch for the truth of the matter.

A bank in New Jersey ran this advertisement in a local paper: "Wanted—a clerk. Must be experienced in foreign exchange. Salary $15 a week."

"Dear Bank—I would respectfully apply for the position you offer. I am an expert in foreign exchange in all branches. In addition, I converse fluently in German, Arabic, Zola, Gargonzoia and Billingsgate. I write short-hand, long-hand, left-hand and right-hand. I can supply my own typewriter if necessary, and I may mention that I typewrite half an hour in ten minutes, the record."

"I would be willing also to let you have the service, gratis, of my large family of boys, and if agreeable to you, my regularly without extra charge. The cost of postage for your answer to this application can be deducted from my salary."

"Please note that if you have a backyard, I would make bricks in my spare time."

WHAT UNCLE LEM SAYS

There are partisans of Ex-Gov. Ralph O. Brewster, who will support him for United States Senator, no matter what he advocates, or how inconsistent he is with his own past record. Two years ago, not one of that class. Two years ago, the Ex-Governor was understood to be a man of the "wild asses of the state," but now he has changed front and to carry favor with those who oppose him, he declares his opposition to the proceedings in the Senate and his hearty support of the President and his measures.

Then, too, in 1928, the Ex-Governor hailed from Portland, now in this campaign he makes his fight from Dexter, as to appear as the candidate of Eastern Maine. Is it, therefore, any wonder, under these circumstances, that he should consider the Peripatetic Candidate-shifty and politically unreliable? And does it not really seem that he is bidding high for the office he seeks and will promise anything to land the job?

Your Uncle is not a partisan of any party. He wants to see results—taxation lowered, and such measures taken, for laws passed as will benefit the farmer and every industry which requires it, whether located in the North, South, East or West. Is it, therefore, any wonder, under these circumstances, that he should consider the Peripatetic Candidate-shifty and politically unreliable? Spacious Acres

Farm Home of John Laforte

By Frederick Marshall Davis

"To get a kick out of a cow—is to feed—um," is what John Laforte, formerly of Norway, told me at his farm, one day a few weeks ago as he raised his hand and came down with a slap that landed fair on the side of one of his prize herd.

"Guess you are right, John," I said, "I looked along the long line in the larder of his barn at Wales, Maine, the place where he now lives. The place just mentioned is located on a high elevation in the town of Wales and affords a look-out that is interesting and pleasing to the eye. John, like most successful farmers, believes in taking advantage and opens his ground in the fall, preparatory to going on with his spring career."

"This is a snaky plot," he said, as he climbed aboard and started his rugged team of horses while I followed along the furrow with a heavy iron bar, only to loosen and lift out any stone that might have tendency to hinder the progress of the machine on its return trip. He acknowledged the fact when I told him that his spacious fields would make a set of gold links second to none in this part of the country.

Although having been on the place less than two years, John has equipped the place with every convenience. A line of mysterious fluid—as Edison calls it—gives a bright, steady light, and does much of the work at the house and barn and the water system is one that is rare and unusual.

Although on high elevation and in spite of the prevailing drought, the water is pulled 450 feet to the buildings by a Fairbanks-Morse pump from a dug well forty-five feet deep that contains at all times 43 feet of water. The specimen of police dog watches daily over the prize herd of Guernsey stock, the dog does not carry a crook, but he is still a good shepherd.

As a steady income, John sells whole milk which goes to Lewiston three times each week and is considered one of the best grades and goes to a large number of the best homes in the city.

A stroll through the buildings, in one sense, is a pleasure and the kind and gentle ways that John practices among his animals—house and barn alike, is very noticeable. As for milking time, his good wife assists and with a smile on her face, she sits on a stool and drums on the pail with splashing streams to her own satisfaction while his house pets, canine and feline alike, pace the larder or wait with interest to get that bit of milk that is generally dealt out at each milking hour.

I believe that kindness to animals is an important factor in the agricultural industry and into a calm, satisfied state, goes a long way toward getting the best of results.

It is easy to guess that John and his wife, who are both friends in Norway, the former having taken charge of the stitching room at the shoe factory for a term of years.

Mrs. Laforte, formerly Mrs. Goodspeed of Norway, although perhaps little known, in early life traveled quite extensively, having made footprints in many foreign lands. Some of the points of interest visited include the Pyramids of Egypt, Spain, Italy, France, England, Venice, Florence, Rome, and also St. Peter's at Rome. Although having traveled in many climes, she likes Maine and enjoys farm life and chooses this beyond all others as a location. Although perhaps young in the agricultural business, John's ability is really mystifying, he seems to take to it like a fish takes to water and he has already made long strides along the road to success.

Many visitors search out and call at this given spot to admire its charms and wonderful location. John has made many friends among the neighboring people in this locality, by maintaining at all times as he does, that pleasant, genial disposition that buries itself deep in the hearts of men. He loves his home and enjoys the open and the freedom of farm life and not being forced to answer the call of a bell or whistle. On leaving, he reached for my hand that morning as I sat in the heavily loaded car of farm products from his bumper crop that he had made, and he said: "Is John's own words that he has an electric water system, an electric furnace, and his cream separator, washing machine and grindstone are run by the same power, but we made a drawback agreement that if the time should come when an electric chair was installed, I should stay far away from this domain in spite of its pleasant surroundings known as Spacious Acres."

OVERFLOWING PRISON CELLS

“To those who are puzzled to account for the crowded condition of penal institutions is made plain that the chief factor in filling cells to overflowing is the more or less modern legislative habit of creating new classes of criminals. What society was once content to consider as criminals only have been promoted to higher rank and are now being shamelessly inclosed in the prison population.

For example, the inmates sent to the Federal institution for violation of the narcotic laws numbered 2,731 on June 30, 1935, the largest list of offenders. Mr. Volstead, who drafted the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment responsible for 1,827 convicts. Offenders against postal laws come next with 1,068.

The celebrated Mann Act to suppress interstate slavery” contributed 241. Violation of immigration restrictions produced 290. Bankers and bankers’

Alger of Gould's and Judd of Paris were tied for field goals, each netted 7. Cheshire of Gould made second place with 4 ringers, closely followed by Pratt of Paris, with 3 hoops. Swift short arm and snappy passing of the short arm variety, featured both teams.

December Temperature
John Wight, the weather observer, offers a summary of morning temperatures during December for the past five years. Observations were taken at 6 a. m., on Pine Street, South Paris.

We are indebted to his wife for the record during the month just past, as John was seriously ill much of the time. Mrs. Wight is the busy role of nurse, housekeeper and dispenser of medicine, never skipping a morning in the exacting job of remembering to peek at the thermometer.

According to the record, December was frosty, with two snow periods. One from the 18th to the 21st and one other from the 25th to the 31st, kept the mercury on fairly even level. Otherwise, the rises and drops were abrupt, the highest at 30 and lowest 12 below zero.

An overzealous citizen sent a general fire alarm from box 34 in Oxford Park, Friday forenoon, for burning soot in a chimney at the Mrs. Winnie Thomas house on Tyler Street. The department responded quickly, but nobody could locate the fire. After hanging around a while, the companies returned to the village without unloading a single length of hose.
